Yearbooks differ widely in their attempts to record the fleeting moments that represent high school life. Some meticulously divide the school year into seasons, some force the events to conform to an all-embracing theme, while others, like the U. S. Grant GENERAL endeavor to present the activities and the history of one school year in a logically readable manner.

Highschool is more than a campus with modern brick buildings and a lovely green courtyard. It is more than a state of mind fashioned out of a multitude of impressions and encounters. It consists of more than sports, parties and fun. Highschool is education! Knowledge is gained and maturity takes a foothold in the lives of students.

Another year of highschool at U. S. Grant has gone by. Seniors are either looking forward to "being on their own" or to "college life." Juniors thrill over class rings and their production of the Junior-Senior Prom. Sophomores wait for their long journey through highschool.

The U. S. Grant GENERAL is presented this year as a book of history for 1960-61 in the hope that it may meet the qualifications and expectations of both faculty and student body at U. S. Grant.

Mr. C. W. Huffman, Principal, U.S. Grant

Up in the morning and bustling off to school is a part of Mr. Huffman's daily routine. Here, he pauses before another busy day.

Proudly We Dedicate The 1961 General

The cohesion of these students and Mr. Huffman around the fire barrel is accentuated by their friendly smiles as they bravely withstand the cold weather to sell Christmas Trees.

Deep in discussion about the outcome of the Grant vs. Southeast football game are Mr. Huffman, center, and fans.

A significant part of Mr. Huffman's day is spent behind his desk. He must have time for business conferences, telephone conversations, sessions, dictating letters, filling out various forms, talking with faculty members, and helping students. These tasks he performs dutifully with patience and knowledge and to the best of his ability.

That wise and familiar face on this page, pictured with the smile of multiple responsibility, happily and productively assumed, belongs to the man who is principal of our school. He has served so well in that capacity the last three years, we hope he will continue for many more.

As a man he has won the respect and love of all of those with whom he has been associated. His sincerity, judgment, honesty and humility have endeared him to both faculty and students in this U. S. Grant educational community.

As an educator and an administrator he has managed to be one of the most effective of high school principals. He has built slowly and well on foundations he never cared to alter, and has made, with courage, the changes he deemed necessary to help students to absorb, quickly and accurately, new knowledge, and apply it with judgment. He is a guiding force, a co-ordinating thinker who puts his ideas into practice in such a way which develops and strengthens our high school. To Clarence W. Huffman we respectfully dedicate this volume.

Above: Mr. and Mrs. Huffman select their dinner in the Boulevard Cafeteria while Paul Nelson, left, waits to escort them to the dining room where Mr. Huffman was a guest at an O.C.I.P.A. meeting along with other high school principals.

Below: Willing to do his share, Mr. Huffman patrols the halls during classes.

Grant Requires Large Teaching Staff

Mr. Wallace admiringly watches, as Mrs. Hampton performs one of her numerous tasks as secretary to Mr. Huffman.

Grant's newest faculty members pause in the courtyard during a busy day to become acquainted.

Through the years U. S. Grant has been noted for terrific school spirit and pride for which glib explanation is available. Many elements have gone into building this tradition which is Grant. The major item is the scholastic program, though, each phase of the school program has excelled

One has only to examine the contents of the several trophy cases to discover a further secret of our success. These trophies are not for Athletics alone, nor are they for speech alone, nor music. The true explanation of Grant's fame lies in the fact that in every field students are given their chance to succeed. Grant has preserved a well coordinated program offering an excellent, well rounded, high school education

The Sr. High Speech students win praise for their production of the Jr.-Sr. Play

The athletic department wins trophies in several different types of sports

Grant's music department is also noted as being outstanding in their various performances

Mary brought forth her firstborn son and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes, and laid Him in a manger, because there was no room in the Inn

Alumnus: Hugh Finkler, Peggy Robinson and Dean [Name] are the first of the previous returning to their alma mater and first class during the Christmas Season for the Alumni Association

U. S. Grant student, John Trechler, Ryan Stewart and Carlyn Nelson discuss the activities of the U. S. Grant while appearing on a program on KWTU.

Many of the activities of the activities of clubs and organizations are sponsored by the student body of U. S.

One of the organizations sponsored to help promote world peace is the U. S. Grant. They are always willing to help in such things as the "One" "Toys for Tots" Red Cross and many other worthy causes and organizations.

Many assemblies were given through the year to inform the student body of their responsibilities. One such assembly was given by the student department. Its main purpose was to inform the student of the danger of reckless driving.

For assemblies provide the students with the necessary spirit to promote their high school teams to victory. Many hilarious skits were given by the student councils to help promote school spirit in the assemblies.

Not only were there assemblies, but there were also the annual election, Journalism, and many others, all of which played an important part in the school year of 1960-61 at U. S. Grant High.

Ferryn Gate, John Monroe and Elise Greathouse contribute to the "Toys for Tots," sponsored by the Senior High Student Council, during Christmas. The toys were then given to unfortunate children who would otherwise receive nothing for Christmas.

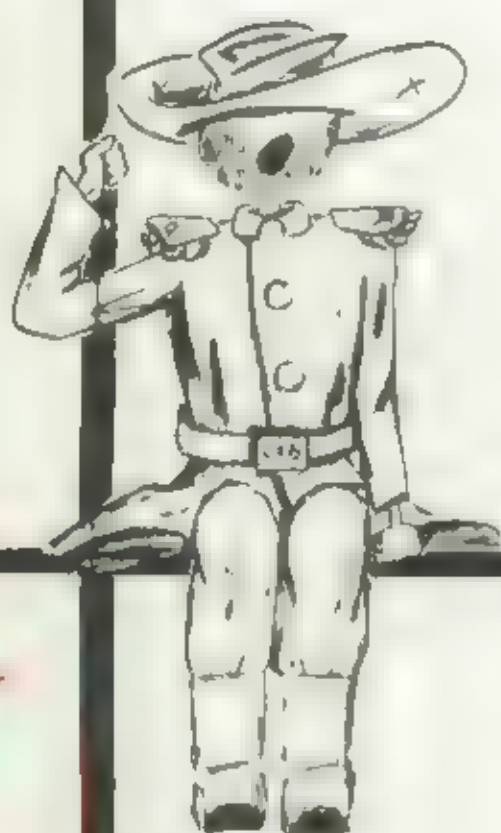

Students Show School Spirit

Both sides of the flag players proudly raise the new Victory flag symbolizing a victory during a ceremony witnessed by the entire student body. The flag was a gift of the senior class of 58-59.

Many Varied Activities Share The

Emory Ashpaugh, a senior, who was injured in a diving accident last summer, smiles happily from the wheel chair given him by students at the homecoming game where the student body honored him.

Parents, students, alumni, teachers, pep club, band and other supporters filled Capitol Hill Stadium each week to watch the Generals charge to victory over their opponents. People cheered and the pep club sang while the band played "Fight on for U. S. Grant!"

Spotlight Throughout School Year

The school life at U. S. Grant is well rounded. In addition to the academic and scholastic side, the student body participates actively in sports. In the past year the parents, faculty, and students have cheered the football and basketball teams to many glorious victories. The loyalty to the teams is seen in the vigorous enthusiasm expressed by the joyful cries of victory over the defeated foe. The friendliness of the school appears in the smile of a fellow classmate as he is welcomed into the activities which are so much a part of the life at Grant. Aside from the varsity sports activities, we have various intermural sports participated in before school by homerooms. The intermural program consists of such sports as Volleyball and Basketball. To support our many sporting activities the student council sponsors such interest builders as the annual poster contest during football season. The homeroom which receives the best poster prize is entitled to a free Coke party.

The students work to earn money for their class activities after school and during the week end. Some of the many class projects which the students hold are car washes, paper drives and bake sales to finance the annual Junior-Senior Prom, Western Day and the senior gift.

As each class nears graduation they must make such important decisions as variations in our traditional class ring, graduation announcements and commencement exercises.

These many activities make up only a part of the extracurricular life of Grant's students.

The "pride of U. S. Grant" halts for the Lord's prayer before presenting the pregame ceremony at the Central-Grant football game at Taft Stadium.

The intermural volleyball and basketball games held before school each morning in the gym provide an interesting and healthful pastime for U. S. Grant Sr. High School Students. Every morning these students were seen excitedly competing against students of other homerooms, fighting for the title of "Champ."

Selling Christmas trees was a money raising project of this year's Senior Class. Above Lucinda Scott smilingly persuades Mrs. Sparks to buy this big one. This was just one of the projects of our ambitious and hard-working Senior Class.

Grant Athletic Program Rates High

Fight! Team! Fight! This vociferous cry, heard clearly ringing through the crisp night air along with the noise of the anxious crowd marks a typical U. S. Grant football game. This same sound is characteristic, also, of the basketball games and the exciting wrestling matches. This is the sound of the pep club cheering our boys on to victory.

This backing gives the boys the will to win and the anxiety and challenge to defeat. School spirit is the backbone of U. S. Grant. It is the fun; it is the strength; it is the encouragement of the student body. For school spirit is a true personality-packed student body!

Without the anxiety and fun of school spirit, Grant would be a dull and dreary place. Its students would trudge along boringly with no interest in school or in the extra-curricular activities.

Though the beginning may have been slow, our students made up for it quickly after they once picked up their own helping of school spirit.

We are proud of our school and of our athletic department, and we hope that this pride will shine through with loads and loads of school spirit!

Mr. Butler reviews with the faculty the schedule for ending the semester.

Mr. Sizer, Mr. Jones, Mr. Kruger, Mr. Coffey standing; Mr. York, Mrs. Deen, and Mrs. Weber prove that teachers must study as well as students.

Qualified Leaders Dedicated to Youth

Beginning his third year at U. S. Grant is our beloved Principal. Mr. C. W. Huffman's cheerful smile has become a permanent fixture in our halls.

Mr. Huffman, before he came to Grant taught math, physics and coached all sports for five years in Northern Oklahoma. He added another five years as superintendent before coming to Roosevelt Junior High in Oklahoma City where he headed the math department for five years. For the next 10 years he served as principal of Franklin Junior High. He then went to Jackson Junior High as Principal for three years. Mr. Huffman then came to U. S. Grant where his radiant disposition and warm, friendly personality have been an inspiration to the entire student body.

A strong guiding hand is necessary to guide U. S. Grant from day to day. This operation is well handled by Mr. Wallace and Mr. Semrad, vice principals of U. S. Grant, both of whom are in their first year as assistant principal of our school

Mr. Semrad was formerly an eleventh grade American History teacher for eight years. He was a Junior High boys' counselor for two years at U. S. Grant, before becoming vice principal

Mr. Wallace was vice principal of John Marshall for two years before he came to U. S. Grant as the new vice principal this year. He has won the love and affection of all he has come in contact with, both faculty and students

Football games, wrestling, and basketball games were constantly on the crowded agenda of both vice principals throughout the year

Both Mr. Wallace and Mr. Semrad's main goal is to help create a prosperous and enjoyable life for the students and faculty in our school

Responsibilities are Numerous

Typing letters, answering and placing telephone calls, and checking absentees are all a part of the daily duties involving the office staff. U. S. Grant's esteemed secretaries, Mrs. Hampton, Mrs. Littlefield, and Mrs. Bryan, are always ready to give a helping hand to the "Top Three."

Complete records of the past and present are kept up to date by Mrs. Dru Smith. A big part of her job is registering new students.

Along with keeping records and files on fees and school finances, Mrs. Speed checks lost books and sells basketball and football tickets.

Skinned knees, broken arms, and sore throats are cared for by Mrs. Bradley, the School Nurse. She has a large responsibility to the faculty as well as to the students.

Running errands and doing odd jobs is the duty of capable and trustworthy student aids. These aids dash around over the school picking up the absentees and doing typing for the Counselors.

An important job at Grant is the operation of the switchboard. When a light shows on the switchboard it is promptly answered by the office aids.

Much credit is due these vital members of the school staff. We are all proud of the perfection and loyalty they put into their jobs.

Pleasant results due to hard work and vigorous activity are the outcome of the stage production class in the presentation of the many productions which appear on the U. S. Grant stage.

The stage production students along with their advisor, Mrs. Nestlerode, worked diligently to create the background and props that were all a part of the preparations for these productions.

Talent is compulsory to every phase of stage production. The making of drapes and the building of staircases are only a small part of what goes into creating the background for a play. These students even rebound the books which appeared in the Junior Class play. Color techniques were necessary for the proper color contrast in the walls and furniture. This called for real skill and the Grant play production class takes pride in its ability.

Mary Nestlerode, Stage Production and Activities Director.

"Lower that light a little — in — a little more — OK, hold it." These are familiar lines said by the U. S. Grant stage manager of the auditorium. The big voice behind these words is Mrs. Mary Nestlerode. She is the instructor of the stage production class. Mrs. Nestlerode has been the director of many of the school plays in previous years and this year was no exception. She directed, cast, and supervised the building of the scenery for the Thespian play and the Senior Class play. Her classes have over the past years built up a large assortment of supplies for plays of the present year and for future years of use.

Mrs. Nestlerode is also the activities director of U. S. Grant. A calendar of activities hangs on the wall in Mrs. Nestlerode's office 105-A, on which all events of the School curriculum are dated so that no possible mix-up can occur. Mrs. Nestlerode can be seen in the halls arranging for the daily bulletin's printing and the daily announcements. Another of her jobs is caring for the weekly bulletin and the new Activities Bulletin board in the front hall.

The Thespian organization is co-sponsored by Mrs. Nestlerode. Her numerous students know that in her classes they must work.

Mrs. Nestlerode arranges all assemblies for their presentation in the auditorium.

Mr. Woody Harris, well known projection teacher, is in his 6th year at U. S. Grant High School. Through these years he has been an inspiration to all the students under his supervision. Aiding the faculty in the selection and showing of educational films which fit each teacher's need is a part of Mr. Harris's duties. "Woody," as he is affectionately called by students and faculty, also sees that all tape recorders and record players are kept in first rate condition for use in our classrooms. Mr. Harris, in fulfilling his duties, adds such warmth and personality to his job that it is our pleasure to work with him.

U. S. Grant's counselors are kept busy solving all kinds of problems, belonging to the 2,200 students attending our school. Should I take "This or That" confronts the counselors every day, in their effort to help mold the educational standard of our students. Each person is given a chance to show his character and learning ability, before changes in his or her schedule are made.

"Silence is Golden" reads the sign in the U. S. Grant Library. If ever in need of research material, vocabulary references, or just reading material, it can be found with the aid of card catalogs and reference books. The librarians are always ready to help when help is needed, to help with the selection of books and magazines that fit the needs of the individual student.

Librarians Vital to Team

One of the important things in becoming a good citizen of a community, is to become a careful, safe, and courteous driver. Students learn the correct way of parking, backing, braking and many other helpful tips in Driver's Education. Interested? See Mr. Kegans, the Driver's Education teacher at Grant. It takes patience and nerve to sit in the car with a beginning driver. Mr. Kegans is admired for his ability to do so. He is one of the best liked teachers at Grant. He always has a ready smile for anyone he meets in the halls. Mr. Kegans is not only our safety advisor but also sponsors our safety council.

Cecil Kegans
Sr. High Driver's Education

Mr. Kegans who has taught Driver's Education to adults as well as teenagers is a man of steel nerves and he proves it every day.

The Driver's Education Department receives a new automobile each year to be put at the disposal of the Driver's Education students of U. S. Grant High School.

Traveling about the City you may come in contact with some of his former students. They have learned their lessons well and have lived up to the expectations of a good driver.

Mr. Kegans says, "Safety is the best policy." So remember it!

Words and Numbers Play Their Part

Four plus two minus one is how much? Considering the possibilities Math is a very important course for a High School student or any other student to take. In math you have addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division. As you progress there are new barriers to meet and to conquer. Such as Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Solid Geometry, Math Analysis, and High School Math.

All classes require work but a math class requires hard work and an attentive attitude. In Jr. High, a student has a math course every year but in Sr. High, they have only one year required. But many students take it for all three years so they can further study numerology.

Numerous problems are tackled in these classes each day. Such as the square root of two. This example is simple but they are not so easy in the classes.

To be attentive in a Math class requires that you pay attention to what is being explained and most of all that you like the teacher.

Math is not a subject to be played with. The grade a person is given, is only given to a deserving person, who has worked for it.

SPAIN, FRANCE, SOUTH AMERICA. Do these places sound interesting? If you can't visit them the next best thing is to study one of the various languages Grant has to offer and read about the country.

Microphones and tape recorders play a major role in the Spanish class.

A person taking either French, Latin, or Spanish not only learns to read the language, but they learn to speak it. To speak a foreign language is almost like speaking English only you are in another country and are speaking their language.

The course of Latin is only in its second year at Grant but there are many students enrolled in this class.

French is not new to Grant but many students find it is new to them. They learn about the background of the language as well as the language itself.

They look as if they are working but they are really just enjoying themselves

One of the fascinating parts of English is the study of Literature; consisting of the great works of great minds in both English and American Literature, bringing us a true to life picture of our early heritage

Reading, writing, spelling and vocabulary are all a part of the English Curriculum. With approximately 300,000,000 people

In an attempt to develop critical thinking by reading and discussion, the Great Books class has studied Literature, Philosophy, History and Economics

SPEECH

The desire to be a good speaker must be foremost in the mind of any serious speech student. With this desire the student then proceeds to learn the fundamentals of public speaking. After they have formed a basic knowledge of speaking, they must learn to debate next—the most important part of which is to listen to what your opponent says and evaluate it and its effect on the audience.

After this, speech students are lost in a whirl of speech tournaments and debates involving everything from "A to Z." Learning to put "feeling" into their speeches and acting, these students really put their hearts into their work.

Mr. Semrod and Kenneth Carlisle have a "friendly" discussion

A pleasant smile and a gleeful thank you, come from Mrs. McCray as she receives gifts from the faculty.

Social Studies Includes Many

Science and History are, to the many students of Grant, a part of their required curriculum. As pictured on the following page, Grant has a large part of its faculty teaching these classes.

Do you like frogs? Well, you might not after you dissect one in Biology. Biology is a part of the SCIENCE department. Also, among the scientific courses are Chemistry, Physics, Physiology, and Science Seminar. In Jr. High there are mass science classes of general science held in the auditorium.

History is in the making each and every day. And Grant offers intelligent and interesting topics. Such as United States History, World History, Civics, Government, and Oklahoma History. These are all a part of our great historical heritage.

To a seventh grader or an eighth grader SOCIAL STUDIES is similar to Geography that they studied in elementary school. But it is very different. Social Studies will become a course in History when the students enter Sr. High.

Mr. Semrad, Mr. Nees, Dr. Wyneshank and Dr. Phillips seem to be very engrossed in just what Mrs. Marjorie Humphry has to say Grant's athletic department, headed by Mr. Tracy Norwood, undertakes many outside activities aside from its varsity sports functions. An example is the Spaghetti dinner sponsored by the Sports department and the U. S. Grant Parents Athletic Association.

The Industrial Arts Department of Grant, more commonly known to the students as the "Shops," is made up of Printing, headed by Mr. McCain, who also heads the Photography department; Mr. Niblett, head of the Mechanical drawing section who teaches both Jr. and Sr. High students, woodwork supervised by Mr. Ross, turns out future carpenters; and the metal work unit, under the watchful eye of Mr. Bingham, not only learns the fundamentals of Ironwork, but turns out many objects of beauty.

Mrs. Edith Jones, ably assisted by Mrs. Ring and Mrs. Orren, teaches the young ladies of today to be the housewives and homemakers of tomorrow. Some of their assigned tasks are preparing household budgets, baby care, the making of household goods, cooking and the many and various duties of the housewife. In addition to the duties of the housewife, girls who have an interest in such careers as interior decorating receive an early start through household decorating and home economy.

Girls who take cooking learn new and attractive recipes under the capable assistance of Mrs. Orren while Mrs. Jones' sewing class puts out many beautiful and well made garments. Mrs. Ring very ably teaches her family living class the importance of a balanced budget.

The General Insignia in front of the auditorium is inspected by Mrs. Littlefield and Mrs. Hampton. It was presented to U. S. Grant as a gift from the Sr. Class of '60.

Members of the Senior High Student Council are working on just one of the many projects run by the students. Johnnie Hopkins, Rick Williamson, and Ferryn Gates are shown rearranging and brightening up the student store while waiting for the action for the day. The store opens 8:30 to 3:30 for the convenience of the students.

The Senior High Student Council is always striving towards a better school. This year was no exception for their great efforts. There were five Representatives-at-Large from the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes. The representatives were elected to work in conjunction with each homeroom representative.

The improvement of school spirit was one of the tasks which faced our Student Council members. The United Appeal Drive, Toys for Tots, Poster Contests, and Thanksgiving Baskets were only a few ways in which the members accomplished their work.

Members took over the duty of beautifying the school. Trees were obtained and planted in front of the school building. These proved to be very attractive in the spring when leaves began to bud. The main project that the Student Council sponsored was a fountain for the front hall. This was very attractive to visitors of our school. They also compiled a student directory for the use of students and teachers.

Delegates attended the annual work shop and the state convention, held in Oklahoma City.

Work Diligently Through The Year

The energetic Junior High Student Council has once more gone into action. This year's sponsors were Mrs. Chapman and Mr. Nees.

The Student Council represents the entire Junior High student body. In this type of representation each individual class has a voice in school problems.

Members of the Student Council are chosen at the first of each school year. Each homeroom is empowered to elect two members to attend the meetings. Following each meeting the representatives return to their homerooms, to inform the class of the business discussed.

This year the Junior High Student Council composed a student directory. The students worked diligently to make this directory as complete and exact as possible.

The Student Council also worked on many school activities such as: the March of Dimes, Filling of Red Cross Boxes, United Fund, and the Principal contest which was held by a local radio station to select the Principal of the year.

During February the Student Council members attended an important Inter-City Student Council meeting which was held at Harding High School.

Mrs. Chapman and several of the Junior High members are discussing problems of the Junior High Student Council.

Work Hard for Repeated Success

Box suppers, dances, and paper drives were many of the various activities sponsored by the Junior Class of 1960-61. Hard work and careful thought were the basis by which the juniors were able to plan and execute such activities.

Raising funds was the main problem for the juniors, but it was successfully overcome by such activities as the Box Supper which helped greatly with funds toward sponsoring the Junior-Senior Prom.

Under the direction of John Trent, President, Mr. Siler, Mrs. Humphrey, Mrs. Billingslea, and Mr. C. Hill, the class was successful in combating the usual problems which face such an organization.

Problems and plans were discussed at the annual meetings held every other Thursday, with members of all junior homerooms attending. These representatives, who were chosen by their homerooms to represent them, took an active part in serving on the class ring and fund raising committees, etc

The Junior Planning Committee, discussing the numerous problems that have confronted senior planning the Junior Junior Prom shown in the picture are Loretta Cligan, Mrs. Humphrey, Mrs. Myatt, Carol Holden, Janice Treichler.

One of the many organizations here at Grant is the National Forensic League, which is a national organization. Its national headquarters are in Ripon, Wisconsin.

The purpose of the club is to promote speech activities in high school. To be a member of N. F. L. one must earn it by participating in speech activities. There is a national magazine entitled "Rostrum."

Over seventy-five percent of the United States Senate have once been members of the National Forensic League.

The organization was sponsored by Mr. Bill Waltman, who is the speech teacher here at Grant. Mr. Waltman led and directed the group in each contest and project the group undertook.

Students who become members of the Junior Red Cross learn what it means to work with the needy. The development of leadership and responsibility played a great part in this year's program.

The club was first organized as a service organization. Through the past year it has remained this way. Its members learned to work in co-operation with adults as well as their leaders.

The motto of the Junior Red Cross is "Service to others." Service was given to others and each member of the club. The motto tells the story of this important organization very well.

Members of the club, elected from each Junior and each Senior high homeroom, work together on projects to aid the needy.

Many activities in which the members of the Junior Red Cross have been engaged, proved to students at U. S. Grant that we are all very interested in our country, school, and state, Junior Red Cross.

Red Cross members look over some literature that will help them in their future work. Seated: Brenda Mathis, Gail Wilbanks, Linda Barcum, Randy Acheson. Standing: Mrs. Jones, Jennifer Underwood, Nancy Roach.

The Senior High Y is a YMCA sponsored organization which is open for membership of boys in the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades. The purpose of the High Y is "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school, home and community, high standards of Christian character."

Boys who are willing to work and carry out the purpose are welcome as members. With the four plans; being clean, scholarship, clean speech; the boys have much to work toward and strive for.

Members of the High Y take an active part in such sports as basketball, bowling, and swimming.

Sponsoring the group during 1960-61 were Mr. Cheatwood and Mr. Frank Hill.

Jr. Hi-Y Builds Good Standards

A group of Jr. Hi-Y boys take part in an active game of basketball.

Working together to build strong minds and bodies is the purpose of the Jr. Hi-Y. Boys of today are given every chance possible to become better adults. The Jr. Hi-Y is one of the many fine organizations dedicated to this purpose.

Members are given the chance to learn to work and get along with their fellow man. The program was designed for the purpose of building Christian character and good citizenship.

Membership is open to all seventh, eighth, and ninth grade boys who are interested.

The Y. M. C. A. sponsors the club and all members are given the privileges of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Jackson and Mr. Bingham are the active sponsors of this progressive club.

Library Members Render Services

Arranging returned books on the Library shelves are Carolyn Barber, Shanah Allen, Mike Bauman, Carol Geyer, and Sharon Moore.

The Library plays a very important part in the lives of each of our students. The duties of our Library Club members are to keep the books in order, straighten the shelves, keep the Library clean, and many other various tasks.

The Library Club members meet once every week with their sponsors, Mrs. Mildred Patterson and Mrs. Lois Hill. These meetings are to help the student librarians achieve their assigned duties.

Each member of the Library Club works one hour each day in the Library.

Every Spring the club members attend meetings at O. U. along with students from many other schools in the state. They discuss ways to improve their libraries.

The club members assist the Librarians at the desk and help to keep the Library in order.

Officers were elected at the first of the year. All the Seniors in the Club were given an office. The officers were Linda Straka, President; Carolyn Barber, Vice-President; Shanah Allen, Secretary-Treasurer; Helen Johnson, Reporter; and Kay Richardson, Social Chairman.

The purpose of the U. S. Grant Safety Council is to promote greater safety in our school, and our homes and community

The Safety Council had many projects in the past year. Some of these were special programs in the auditorium, the new parking program, and participating in the city-wide television Safety Program. Two teams represented Grant at the contest, a Sr. High and a Jr. High team. Participating in these teams were, from the Jr. High, Kathy Thompson, Billy McDonald, and Donald Kegans. In the Sr. High team, there were Linda Martin, Gary Ellis, and Charles Pratt. These programs were especially designed to interest the students in Safety

This organization constantly strives to promote the safety and the well being of the student body of our school. They keep an eagle eye out for safety hazards which might cause harm to someone around the school

Besides the traffic safety program they are responsible for the tornado drills and the fire drills

The Safety Council has won several State and National Plaques. They also have attended several conventions

The club meets every Thursday throughout the school year. There are about fifty members in this club but, it is constantly on the alert to obtain new members

Safety Council officers look over the plan of the new safety program for U. S. Grant

We catch Mr. York, newspaper reading, busy reading papers.

Mr. Whitman, English teacher, playing music while they learn.

"Macbeth," "The Scarlet Letter," and many other best selling American novels are read by students of the American Literature classes, under the direction of such faculty members as Mr. Marvin York, Mrs. Dorothy Weber, Mrs. Hilda Manning, and Mrs. Mattie McCray.

Tenth grade English classes, taught by Mrs. Weber and Mr. York, study grammar, theme writing, vocabulary, and literature.

Ninth grade English classes, taught by Mrs. Suzanne Vaughn and Mr. C. D. Chace, study vocabulary and the basic rules of grammar, plus a certain amount of theme writing and memory work.

The Great Books Class, under the direction of Mrs. Jewel Sparks, is a newly organized group. This, its second year in our school, has provided a very profitable experience to its interested members.

In the Great Books Class, students carry on their own discussion without the aid of their sponsor. Guest speakers, who are Great Books teachers from other schools, are invited to this class. In this way students see the different ways in which Great Books is taught in different schools.

The Thematic Approach Class, taught by Mrs. Weber, write themes, term papers, and book reports; read novels; and study vocabulary.

Learn News Of Today And Tomorrow

The Students of U. S. Grant are lucky to have one of the largest History Departments in Oklahoma City. Our History Department includes Oklahoma History, United States History, World History, Economics, World Affairs, and American Government.

The History Department is headed by Mr. James Cox. The other History teachers are Mr. Reavis, Mr. Siler, Mrs. Myatt, Mrs. Novey, and Mr. Hostetter.

Mr. Cox's first hour American Government class is one of the few classes in Oklahoma City that read the Daily Oklahoman every day in class. The class plans to visit the Oklahoma County Court House and the Oklahoma state legislature. They hope to see, instead of read, how the laws are made and supported by the courts.

History teachers of U. S. Grant try to teach their students the responsibilities of citizenship through such subjects as Civics, History, Government, Geography, and Economics.

Young people who take the courses in social studies come to realize and understand our culture, our place in it, and our responsibility to our neighbors both near and far.

The newest class in our history department is the economics class. Taught by Mr. Siler, this class studies the current events. The class took a poll of the Presidential Election, as part of their daily assignments.

The American Government class not only reads the newspapers every day, but they also find out that our government is more complex than they expected.

Mr. Moore demonstrates to his students the different types of problems taught in the High School Math course offered to seniors

Hard work and long hours of study is necessary for perfection in Math

Education Broadened In Math

Mr. Riesen proudly watches as students finish final exams in geometry

The math department of U. S. Grant Senior High School is headed by a vigorous staff of five capable instructors. Students are offered courses in Plane Geometry, Solid Geometry, first and second year Algebra, and Trigonometry.

A course in High School math is also open to senior high students each year, and business majors are encouraged to enroll in Business Math.

Math teachers meet frequently and spend many tedious hours discussing and planning the itinerary for math students to follow. The instructors also sponsor a math club for those students who excel in the field of mathematics, and wish to broaden their knowledge in this field of education.

Math Club Has Numerous Activities

The Mu Alpha Theta chapter of the Math Club of U. S. Grant High School has been organized for three years now, and is sponsored by Mrs. Cleo Wheeler. Meetings were held the first and third Friday of each month.

The club had fourteen members with Bill Mercer as president. Vice-President this year was Gerry Grimes and Judy Wilkerson held the office of secretary-treasurer.

Students must have a 3.0 grade average in all subjects and a 3.5 grade average in math before being eligible to join the organization.

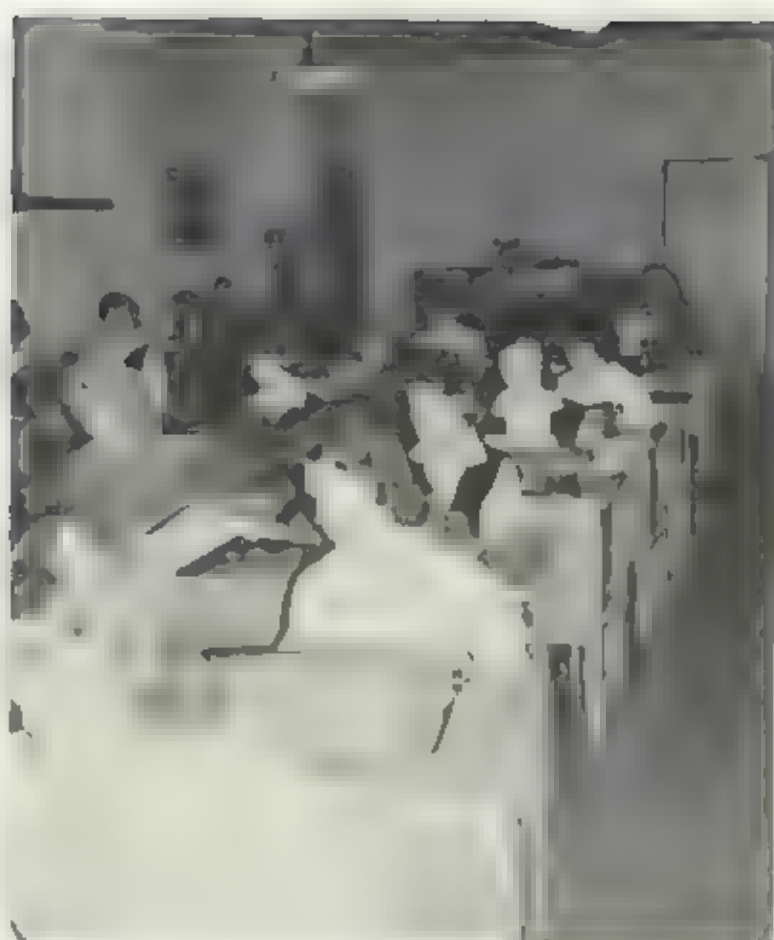

The main objective of the Grant Math Club was to promote scholarship in, and enjoyment and understanding of, mathematics among high school students.

Business Futures Are Inviting To Those

Business English will come in handy for these students who are under the guidance of Mrs. Dean.

The future holds much in store for these shrewd students. They are being taught by Miss Billingslea.

The Business Education Department of U. S. Grant is very important to the student body. This department brings students to realize the importance of knowledge in the world of business. All the courses which are available to the individuals who wish to major in Business, prove to be beneficial to those who accept the challenge.

The Business Department is well equipped at U. S. Grant. Typewriters, I. B. M. machines, Transcribers, and adding machines are only a few things which students have at their discretion.

The officers for this year were Kaye Mixon, President; Jeanette Venable, Vice-President; Aquanetta Peacock, Secretary; Judy Alden, Treasurer; Pat Grape, Chaplain; and Mrs. Holland and Mrs. Dean were the very active sponsors.

Janie Reynolds Princess of Print for U. S. Grant

All Journalism students from Oklahoma City schools were eligible to attend the dance. At least one of the persons in each couple had to be a journalism student.

Ink pens and deadlines were forsaken for silk and taffeta as the journalism students enjoyed a night of splendor, free from press pressure.

The annual Inkslingers Ball was held January 29 at the Southeast Social Center. All city schools were represented at the dance.

All schools elected a Mr. and Miss Journalism. These students attended the dance to compete with the other schools for the title of Mr. and Miss Journalism, city wide.

All senior girls and senior boys, that were in a journalism class were eligible for the title of Mr. and Miss Journalism of their respective schools.

Only journalism students could vote. All the seniors were voted on the first time, which narrowed the voting to three girls and three boys. After the second voting Janie Reynolds and Rick Hamilton held the title of Mr. and Miss Journalism from U. S. Grant.

The dance was semi-formal and started at 8 p. m. and lasted until 11 p. m. As a part of the decorations pennants and newspapers were hung representing each school that is a member of the Oklahoma City Inter-Scholastic Press Association.

Copy, copy and more copy. The GENERAL staff of 1960-61 has recorded, for the enjoyment of the students and faculty, the activities of the past year. The staff, under the supervision of Mrs. Mary J. Sparks began planning the yearbook in the spring of '60. Following the summer work of the editors, the staff began their work on the difficult writing and picture taking.

The U. S. Grant GENERAL is a record of the 1960-61 school term. Hard work, much time and effort, and many people, were among the numerous factors involved in the production of the 1960-61 GENERAL.

School photographers, Mr. McCain, and Mr. Harris have contributed a large amount of work by taking pictures of school events. Another factor toward the success of the GENERAL is the full co-operation of the main office and the financial secretary.

The editors of the 1960-61 GENERAL are: Johnie Glover, Editor-in-chief; Sandy Cox, Assistant Editor; Connie Conine and Janie Reynolds, Activities Editors; Terry Jones, Class Section Editor; Paul Nelson, Sports Editor; Esta Lea Kirk, Business Manager; and Linda Martin and Linda Phillips, Sales Managers.

Through the many hours of necessary work, the staff has endeavored to bring to the faculty and the student body an accurate record of the 1960-61 school year.

Yearbook photographers are: David Garrett, Mike Webb, Larry Trumbly, Bill Knapp.

Journalists Rewarded By Hard Work

Rick Hamilton, Advertising Manager, takes an order for the newspaper.

The Grant Dispatch Staff worked hard during the school year 1960-61. After the endless process of gaining information, lengthening copy, writing, and rushing to meet the deadlines they put out a paper that was interesting to all.

Accuracy is a key word to the newspaper reporter. It took time and effort to obtain correct information pertaining to every phase of school activity.

Spotlights were focused on educational departments such as language, English, and Math.

The newspaper came out every other Thursday, thus giving our students something to look forward to.

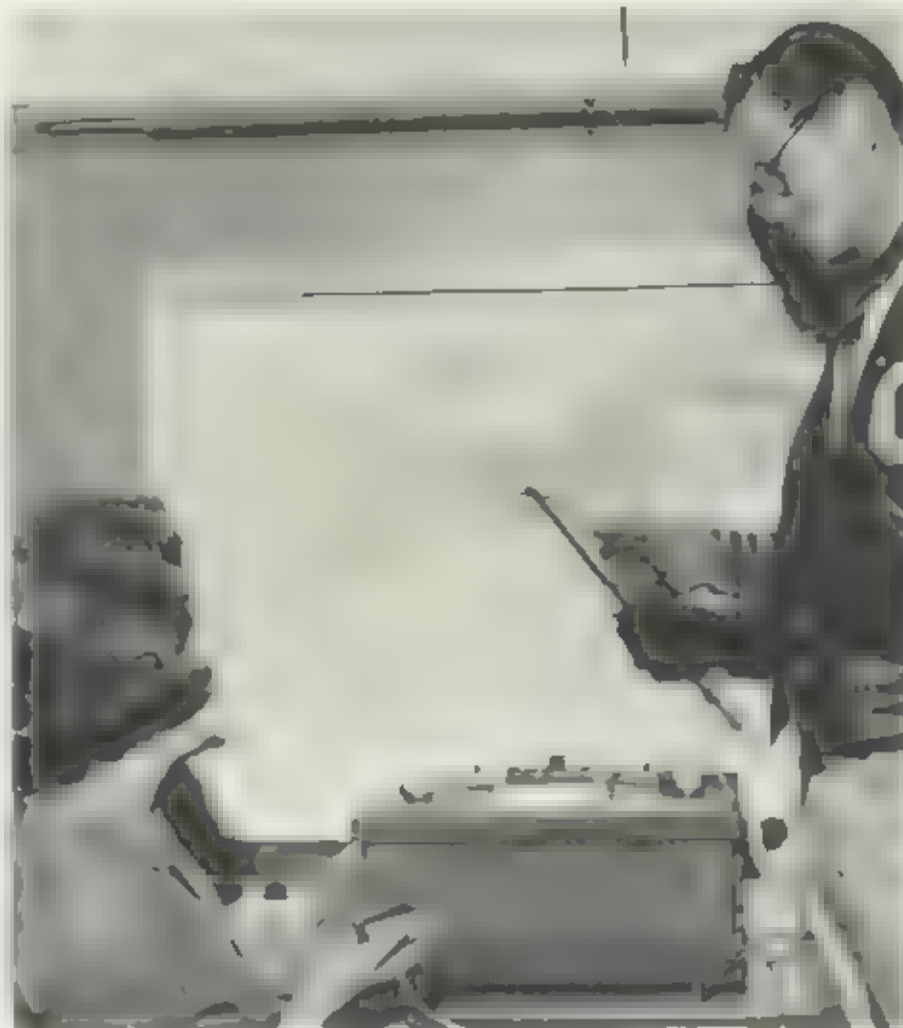

The editors of the Dispatch were Carolyn Nelson, Editor-in-Chief; Janice Triechler, News Editor; Linda Brown, Feature Editor; Grace Demick, Editorial Editor; Roger Little, Sports Editor; and Rick Hamilton, Advertising Mgr.

The Tape Club of U. S. Grant, under the direction of Mr. G. L. Moutray has learned many interesting things about other countries through their tape pals from all over the world. The tape club was organized three years ago with only nine members. This year the club has an enrollment of over twenty members.

Elected as president was Roy Dailey, Vice-President, James Nutt, and Secretary, Mary Ramsey, who is also news reporter.

The Tape Club received tapes from thirty-five different locations, including Germany, South Africa, East Africa, Reunion Islands, and the Mauritius Islands. The club planned on sending their tape pals, a few of our Oklahoma newspapers, post cards, and magazines. The club sold donuts to help finance this project.

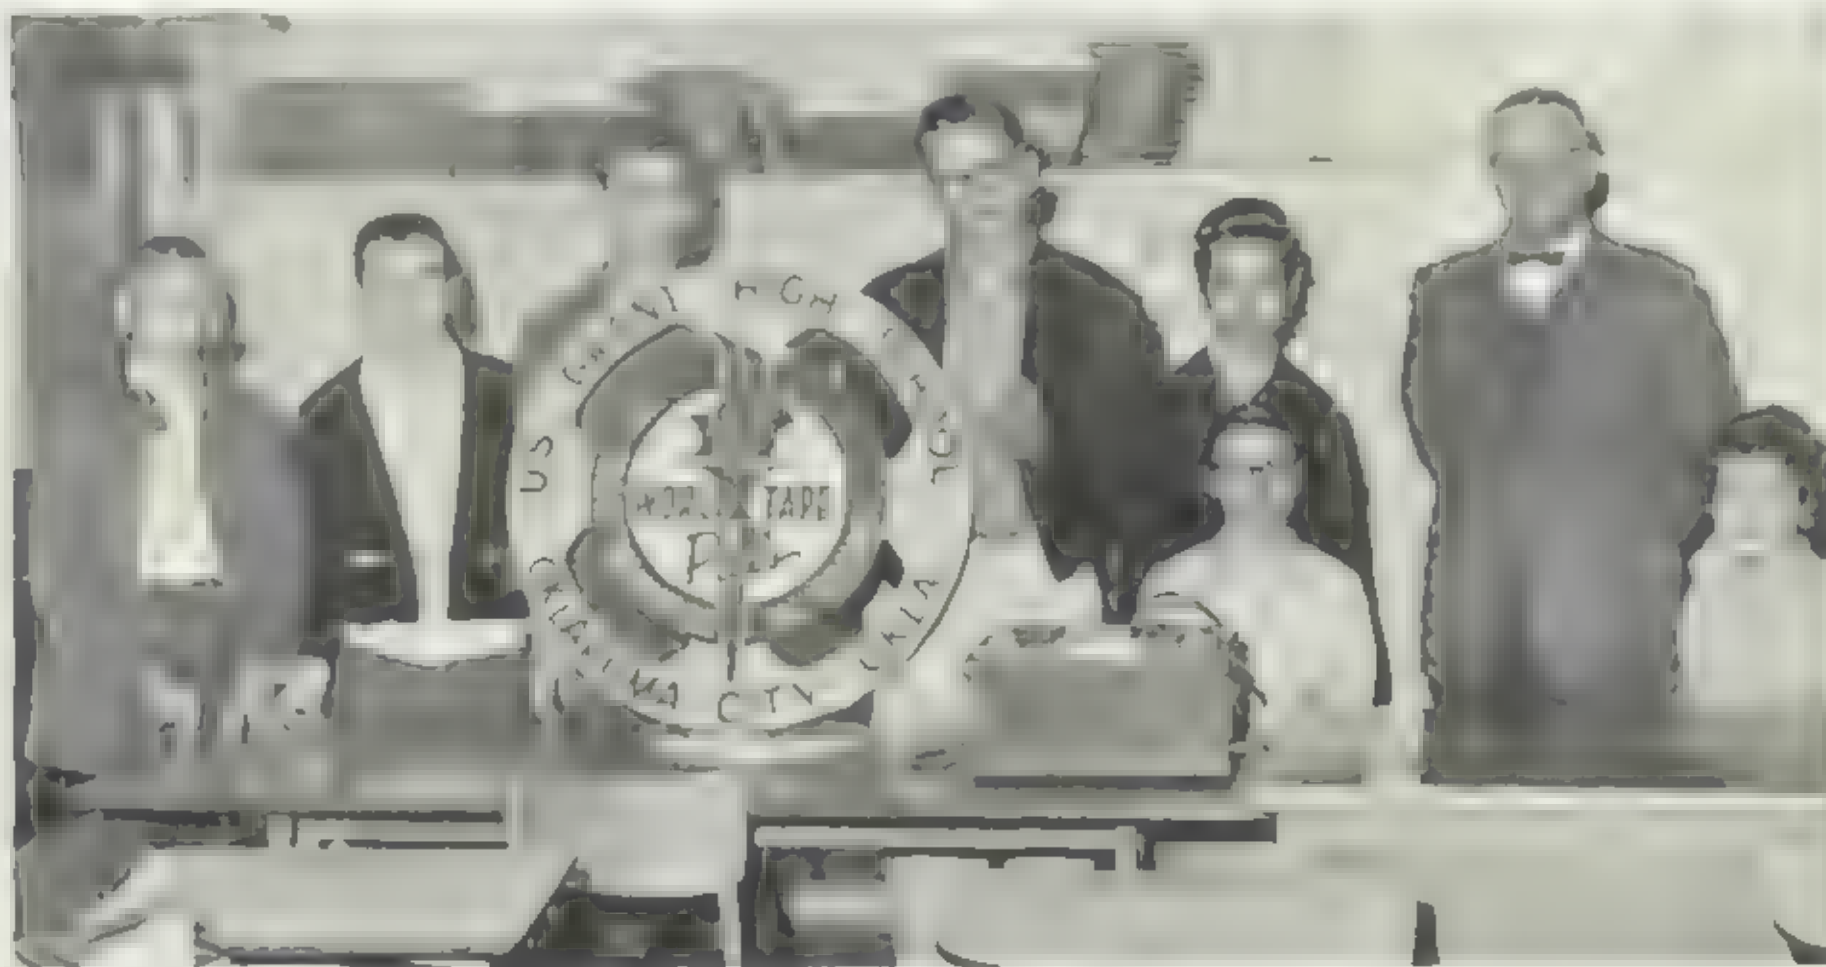

An interesting fact stated by Mr. Moutray, is that Oklahoma City has more tape records than any other city its size and it has been heard that U. S. Grant has more recorders than any other school in the Oklahoma City school system.

Two members of the U. S. Grant Tape Club are discussing interesting points about the tapes which they received from other countries.

Future Teachers Are Looking

The Senior High Future Teachers of America Club is an organization which acquaints students, who would like to teach, with the duties, responsibilities and training necessary for a good teacher.

The club helped the Student Council with the filling of Thanksgiving baskets and presented a Thanksgiving Assembly. The club also sponsors Square Dancing, as an extra curricular activity.

F. T. A. was the sponsor of a fashion show entitled "Family Affair," which was held March 16, with fashions furnished by Kerr's.

The Future Teachers of America are affiliated with the State O. E. A. and attended a State F. T. A. Held in the spring at O. C. U.

The club also performs services for the school and community. Each year the F. T. A. presents a fifty dollar scholarship to the most promising senior in its organization.

The officers for this year were: President, Tamera Marvin; Vice-President, Sandra Hughes; Secretary, Pat Tompkins; Treasurer, Beverly Landsdowne; Historian, Phyllis Walker; Parliamentarian, Janet Miller; and the sponsors were Mrs. Mary Manning and Mrs. Weber.

Junior High F.T.A. members go over various notes of one of their numerous meetings.

Student teachers, who are practicing at Grant, visit these meetings, thus giving students a chance to ask them informative questions about college and teaching.

The officers for this year were Linda Barkham, President; Charlene Hapes, Vice-President; Connie Weber, Secretary; Donna Abel, Treasurer; Annette Harrison, Historian; Marty Ray, Chaplain; Mrs. Riddle and Mr. Mays were the sponsors.

Busy at work, Tomas Pettie, Joe Bill Harrison and Don Coates enjoy listening to recordings and tape recordings of the French language.

In only the fourth year of work, the French Club has accomplished a wide variety of things

This really isn't a club, but sort of an organization of only students who have completed their first year and are now in their second year of French

These students are the only ones who get to participate in all the activities they have

Picnics are held only in summer or when it's warm, and parties are held when it's cooler, or in the winter time. Classes are taught by the Gladsberry method. Tapes are listened to by the students on the French native people

Written work is assigned along with grammar. Students read aloud to try to help other students better understand the course

Verb wheels are used to help conjugate verbs in French. Officers are President, David Parker; Vice-President, Larry Trumbly; Secretary and Treasurer, Karen Kenny

Students Learn And Spanish

Lynne Hendrix, Betty Gerlich, Janet Gast and Mrs. Richter Sponsor, explore through books preparing for the next day's lessons

The Spanish Club was one of the first clubs that was organized when Grant was new. Today the club has increased and the members have each taken an individual interest in it.

The students not only take a special interest in this course for its grammar alone, but also for learning the ways and customs of the people of Old and New Mexico. The members of the club are also students who are studying Spanish in one of the five hours in which it is taught.

The annual breaking of the Pinata comes every Christmas. The Pinata contains candy, cookies, fruit, nuts, and many other appetizing things to eat. Each year a picnic is planned for their spring outing.

Meetings are held once every other week. Refreshments are sometimes served at meetings brought and furnished by the members of the club.

Have you ever seen a Spanish calendar? Linda Treichler and Rick Williamson try to figure out how to read the calendar. These students are just two who are in Mr. Monjaras' classes throughout the day.

Latin Lovers Enjoy

No! It isn't so good — But it ~~is~~ ^{is} anyway, says Calpurnia to Caesar!

"Ah, comfort at last," say stuffed Latin Club members as they rest in peace after a great big feast

Latin was first offered at Grant last year. Second semester our Latin students formed an organization for the purpose of promoting interest in and understanding of the Latin language and culture.

They boast a rise in membership from the original charter of thirty-eight to the present ninety-two in one year. All Latin students are not members of the SHL (Scholares Humanitatis Latinae), but any student who is presently enrolled in Latin or who has satisfactorily completed two years is eligible. The club meets bi-monthly and on several special occasions—such as the Roman banquet, the Christmas party, and the Swimming party.

And so—whether at work or party—their motto is still acclaimed, "Memoria in aeterna imperii maximi."

Latin may be a dead language, but not at U. S. Grant. Latin students held their banquet in the school cafeteria in the style distinguishing the Roman Empire. Latin loving students showed up in robes, their crowns decked with garlands of flowers, sat on the floor, and ate all kinds of Roman delicacies with their fingers. Grace and Roman strength saturated the air as the "Roman Society" enjoyed the make-believe fun of their Latin banquet.

Without the unceasing attention and guidance of Mr. Scott Kester, who instills life, and enthusiasm into his Latin loving students, they would be without much of their knowledge of Latin culture and language.

"Hors-d'oeuvres anyone?" "Yes, thank you I think I'll have another." These Latin Club students enjoy good food served Roman style at their Latin banquet.

Fun Filled Year!

What! Who dares this rude behavior before O mighty Caesar?

Industrial Arts

Roaring machines and busy people describes the Shop Classes of U. S. Grant. This department consists of six major classes: Photography, woodwork, printing, mechanical drawing, electricity, and metalwork. The instructors of these classes are: Mr. Jackson, Mr. Bingham, Mr. Ross, Mr. Niblett, and Mr. McCain who is head of the Shops Department.

These classes offer boys and girls opportunities to receive training for future fields of work. They all seem to have an enjoyable time in these classes although the work is hard.

The students worked on many different projects this year, some for school functions and some for their homes.

The Woodwork classes worked on several school projects, such as suggestion boxes for the halls and props for the Basketball Coronation.

Our Printing class printed most of the pep tags, programs for different events and tags for students campaigning for school offices.

The Photography class took most of the needed school pictures, and the Electricity class installed the television antennas for the television classes.

The Mechanical Arts class made many blue prints one of which was chosen for a house to be built by Mr. Wallace, a faculty member at Grant; and the Metalwork class also made many unique articles.

These six classes have indeed proven to be an outstanding feature in Grant's curriculum.

This year at Grant we have acquired some of the newest machinery in the Oklahoma City school system. One of the newest and finest machines is placed in the school auditorium. It's called the enlarger, which is very helpful in various classes. Other machines which require handling and care are: the Polaroid camera, tape recorder, sound system and portable and standard TV which are the responsibility of Mr. Harris.

Mr. Harris is the sponsor of the projection club, and teaches projection and visual aids.

The projection club strives to bring the students and teachers better viewing, both by film and TV.

The club throughout the year worked many hours after school trying to improve the machines now in use, and to keep them in operative condition.

The Thespian Society is a nation wide honor association. The club differs from all others because students must earn acceptance as members. Points are given to those who worked on stage props or in the play itself. When the required number of points were reached, then the student became a Thespian.

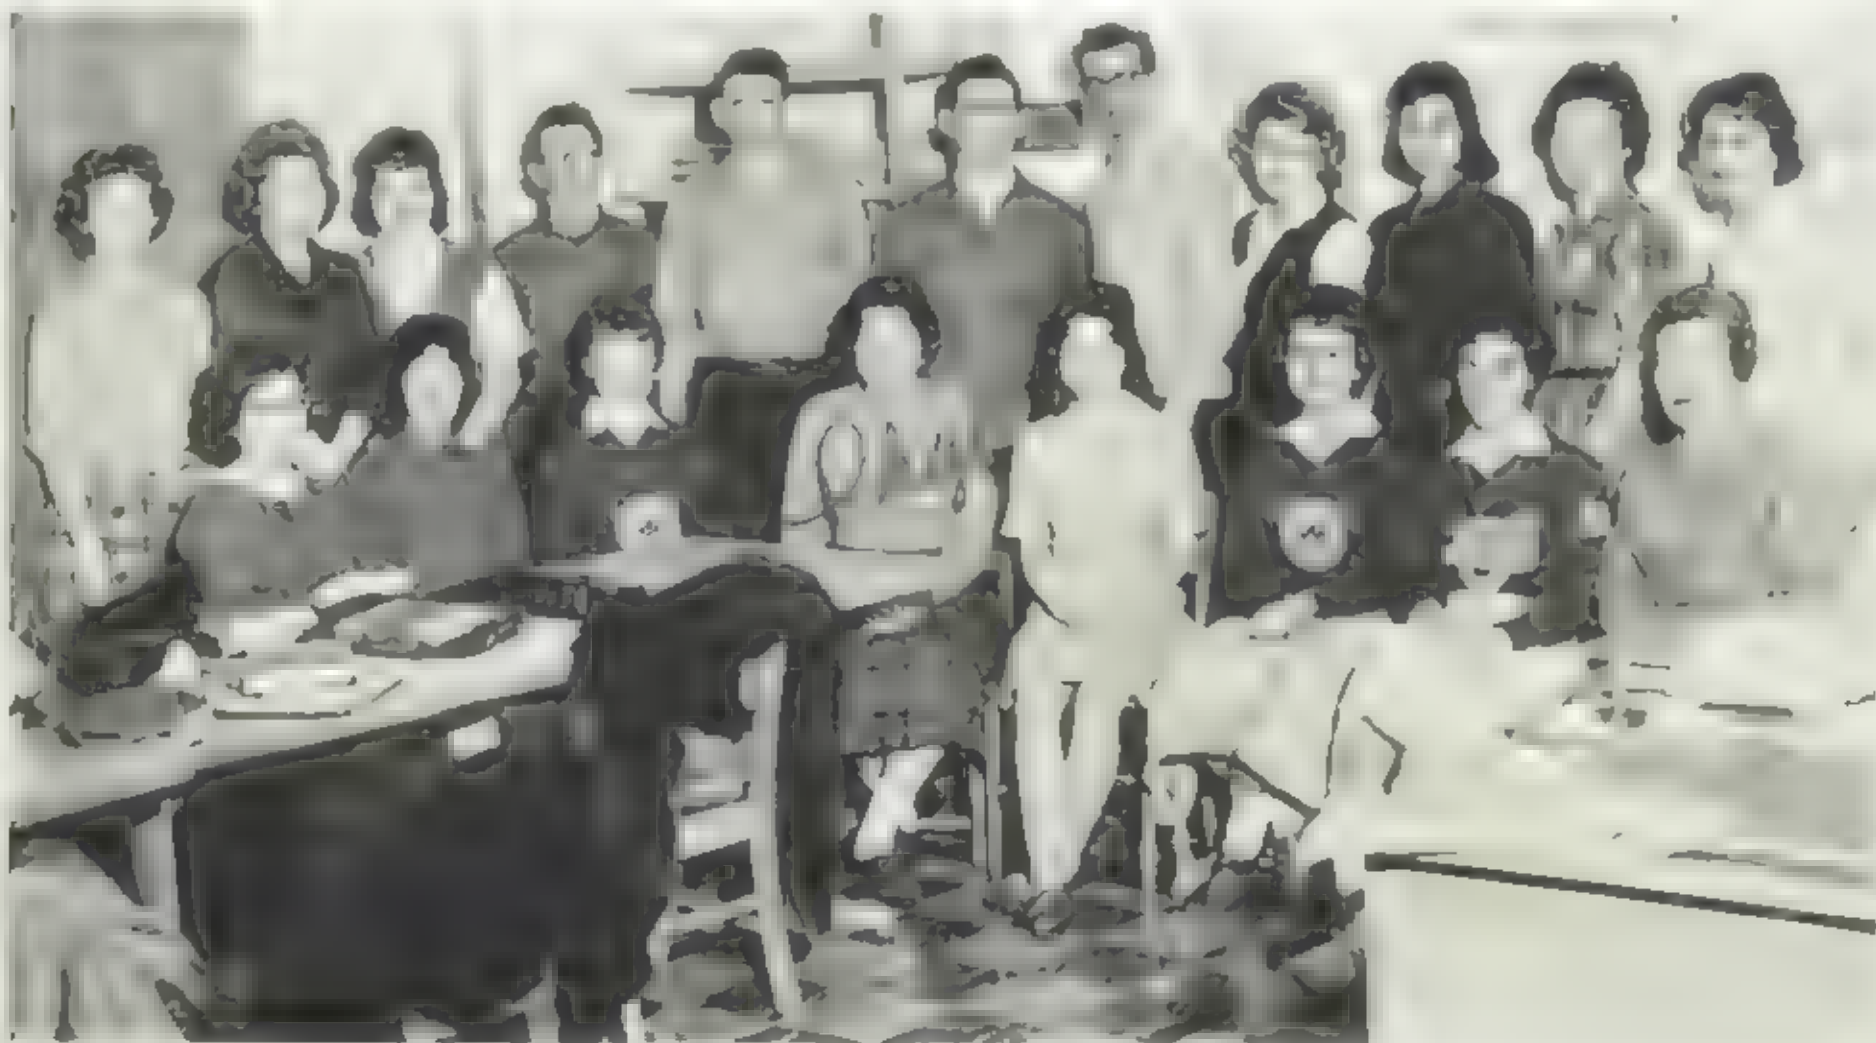

Each Thespian tried to encourage interest in high school dramatics and play production.

Thespians looked forward with eagerness to the annual play. This year they presented a comedy entitled "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." The proceeds will go toward paying debts which are accumulated during the year.

Mrs. Nestlerode was the sponsor of the group, and the officers were: President, Carl Gill; Vice-President, Ferrelyn Gates; Secretary, Mary Jo Cogle; Treasurer, Carolyn Gilkes; and Reporter, Judy Monroe.

Jr.-Sr. Plays Provide Entertainment

Each year the Juniors and Seniors put on separate plays for students, teachers and parents. This gives the students who participate, an immeasurable amount of valuable experience.

This year the plays were both directed by Mr. Poul Whiteman, an English teacher at U. S. Grant. He taught the students how to read their lines and give the effective amount of feeling.

The Junior play was entitled "Let Me Grow Up." It was about a girl whose mother was an actress. The girl's mother didn't want her age discovered, so she had her teen-age daughter act like she was six.

The play was very comical and everyone enjoyed it.

Linda Brown makes her grand entrance welcomed by Mike Wicker, Carolyn Dixon, Barbara Hay, and Connie Hohn; in the play "Let Me Grow Up."

The Senior play was entitled "The Man Who Came to Dinner." This play dealt with the trials and tribulations of a family by the name of Stanley. A famous guest was confined to the Stanley home longer than anticipated, because of a hip injury. This guest answered to the name of Mr. Whiteside. During the unorthodox visit of Mr. Whiteside, a number of his zany friends appeared on the scene; convicts, nuts, actors, and general fly-by-night people. The plot of the play had to do with Mr. Whiteside's nature in relationship to unlimited situations.

All in all, the plays both turned out to be hilarious.

These girls are busy working to beautify the Home Economics Apartment

"A man may work from dust 'til dawn, but a woman's work is never done!" This is the motto of the Home Economics department.

These girls learn the basic parts of the modern housewife's responsibilities.

The selection and preparation of foods and clothing, conditions of living, the use of income, the care and training of children, and many more similar things are the major parts of the Home Economics Classes.

The Home Economics Department is divided into three major divisions; Foods, Clothing, and Home Living and a special class of Home Decorating is offered to those senior high girls requesting it.

Art Students Create Designs

Art, in its many phases is a very prosperous subject here at U. S. Grant. Students learn about everything possible in the amount of time given them. These classes contain the future artists and craftsmen of tomorrow

Commercial Art Students strive to become part of the art field, in one way or another. They aid in making posters for school activities, and help with the scenery of the plays and assemblies given Leatherwork classes turn out beautiful leather pieces such as: billfolds, purses, and belts. Learning the correct dying process and the use of the right tool for the various items is part of their training

The Ceramics Classes, also a very interesting subject, turn clay into stunning objects; vases, ashtrays, bowls, and other miscellaneous items

Jewelry students create fantastic work of art. Turning a piece of silver into a glamorous ring or set of earrings

Junior High Students are offered "plain" art courses, where they learn the fundamentals of the subjects.

All Art classes are under the supervision of Mrs. Marge Humphrey and Mrs. Mourine Long

The Rifle Club is a member of the International Rifle Association and of the U. S. Army Department of civilian marksmanship. This year, the U. S. Grant Rifle Club held a match at Stillwater, and one with John Marshall.

Each year they fire forty rounds for qualification "DCM". If they qualify, the "DCM" gives them rifles and at the end of the year awards are given for the best shot. In April they went on a camping trip, to the Wichita Mountains, for a weekend.

Conservation Club Creates Fun

Conservation Club members discuss activities of their organization

The Conservation Club was begun in February of 1960, and is sponsored by Mr. Don Hess. The purpose of the Conservation Club is "to provide outdoor recreation, swimming, fishing, boating, skiing, hunting, etc.; social recreation: hayrides, wiener roasts, dances, horseback riding, etc.; and to teach conservation practices, such as stocking lakes, planting quail, and helping nature to provide other adequate facilities for these outdoor recreations."

Some of the activities of the Conservation Club include fishing derbys, and a weekend camp located at Cedar Lake.

The facilities of the Conservation Club were burned down in a fire about the middle of last year. Mr. Whitman sponsored a series of one-act plays to raise money for rebuilding these facilities.

The boys rebuilt the Lodge, complete with a large fireplace, while the girls reconstructed the archery and rifle ranges.

A typical weekend at Cedar Lake consists of horseback riding, boating and water skiing, wiener roasts, hayrides, and dancing.

Flower Club Strives For Beautification

Mrs. Elliot and Mrs. Pearson, together with garden club members, re-pot plants during winter months to be set out in the spring.

The U. S. Grant Junior High Garden Club has been an active organization for the past five years. During this time, their efforts have been responsible for the beautification of the school planters, walkways, and other parts of the campus, as well as their individual homes.

The officers for the past year were Barney Hunter, President; Bobby Hamilton, Vice-President; Sheila Loudat, Secretary-Treasurer. Mrs. Elliot and Mrs. Pearson were the club's sponsors this year. All Junior High students with a B average or above were eligible to join.

The objectives of the Garden Club are to teach the propagation of plants, conservation of soil and water, and to study and care for the birds.

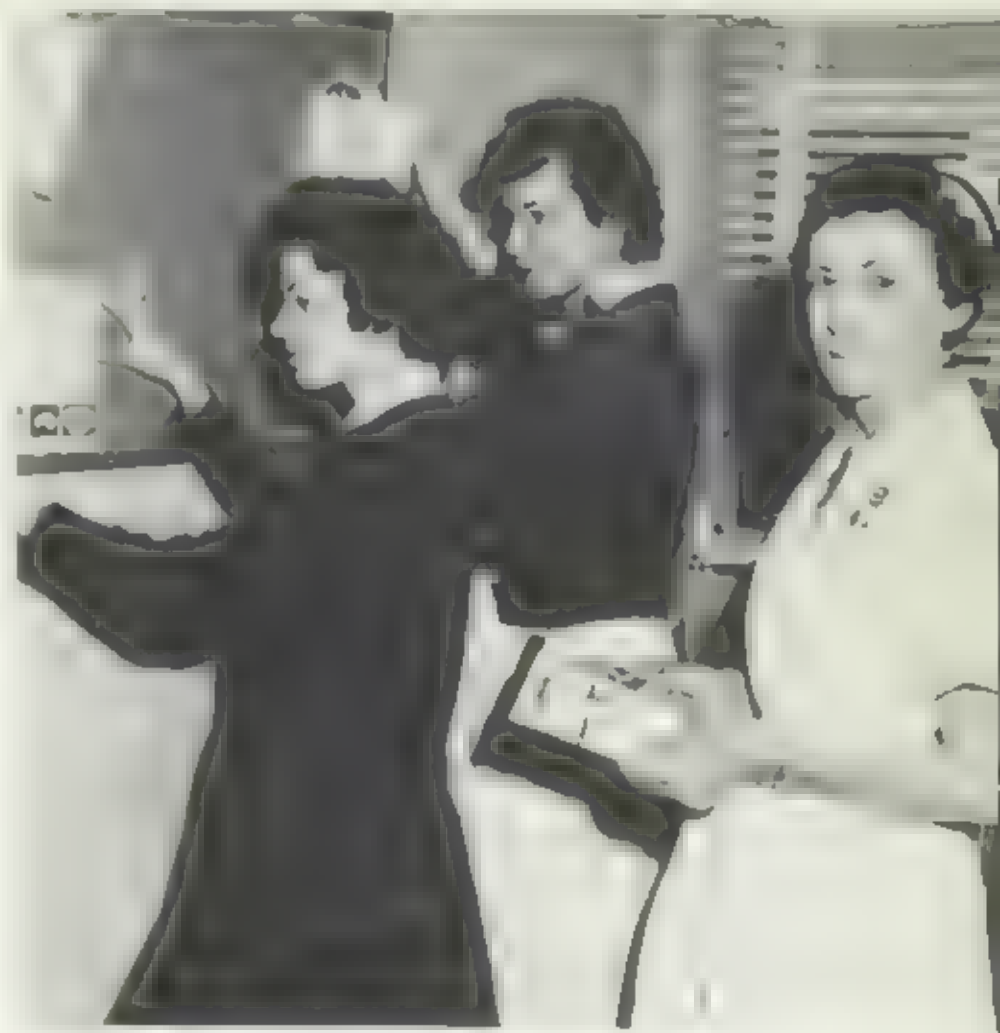

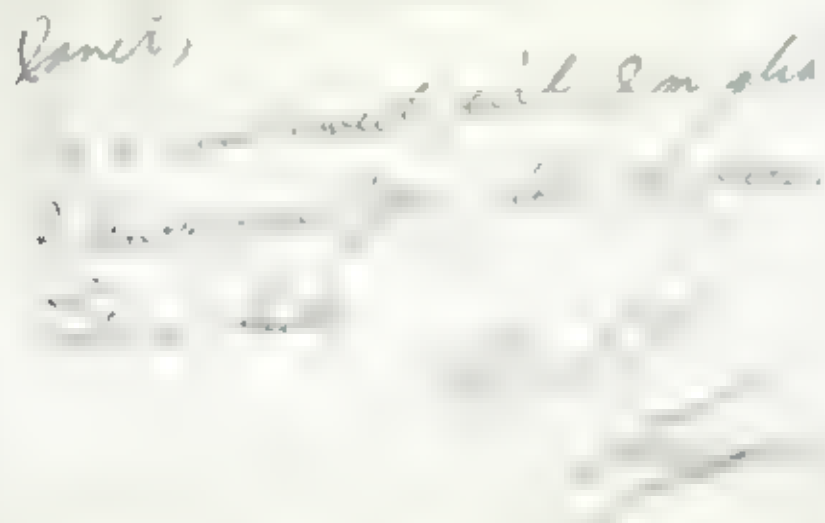

The project for the past year was to have potted plants in all the school rooms and to beautify the campus.

The Senior High School Medical Club of U. S. Grant was organized in November of 1960. The objective of the club was to acquaint students who were interested in any phase of medicine, with the careers in the medical field.

Mrs. Bea Bradley, R. N., acted as sponsor for the organization and officers were elected by the third meeting. Virginia Knight served as president the past year and vice-president was Cynthia Allspaw. Carol Holden held the office of secretary, Jeanette Gibbon was Treasurer, and Parliamentarian was Leslie Vance.

Girls in grades 9-12 were eligible to join and the club met the first and third Monday of each month.

Their main project for the year, 1960-61, was to get volunteers for summer work in the local hospitals. They also planned trips to the Medical Center and to the Baptist Hospital.

The Psychology and Sociology courses, taught by Mr. Scott Kester, are each one-semester classes

Psychology deals mainly with the study of mental life and behavior in relation to other biological processes. In psychology students learn why people do the things they do and why they react to different circumstances in a certain way. It deals with the problems and disorders of mentally and emotionally disturbed people. Each year the students of the psychology class attend meetings at the Sanitarium in Norman. While they are there, they hear speeches by professors and doctors, and they also see some of the mentally disturbed people who are patients in the hospital.

Sociology is the science of the origin and evolution of society, or of the forms, institutions, and functions of human groups. In sociology students learn how their culture affects their life in general. Interested and dedicated sociology students are eligible to attend the youth meeting held at a certain church each year.

Diana Lee—Junior

Cheering the Senior High teams on to victory were the Senior High Cheerleaders and Assistants. These girls were elected by the Saberettes Pep Club. They lead the Student body in yells at assemblies, football, basketball games and wrestling.

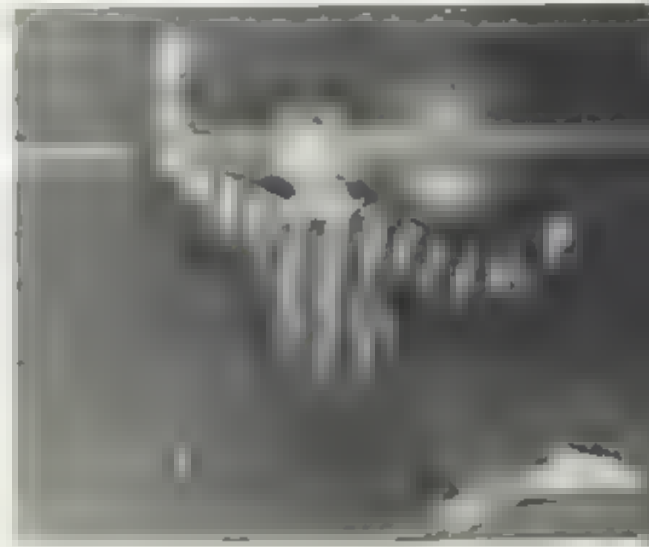

A good cheerleader must possess an excellent pair of lungs, good co-ordination, and the limberness of an acrobat. The Senior High Cheerleaders lived up to these morals by boosting the team and directing the spirit of the student body.

The Junior High Cheerleaders and their assistants play a very important part in the boosting and support that is often necessary to promote the games.

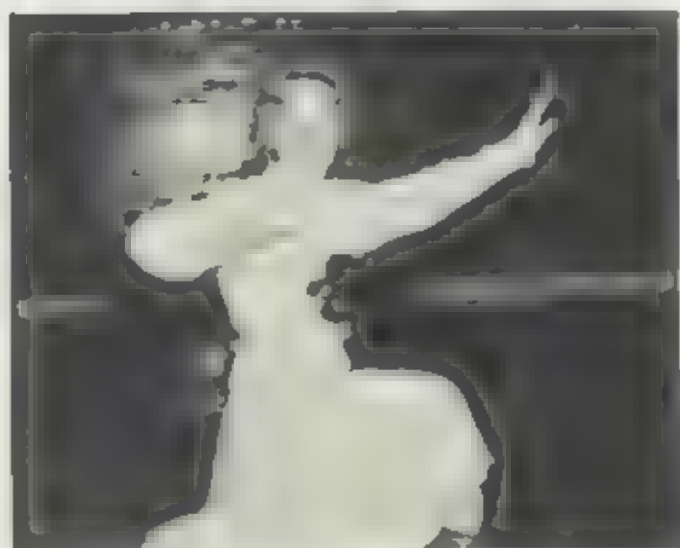

These nine girls, elected by the "Buglettes" Pep Club last spring began practicing during the summer. By the time school started, the techniques and yells were ready to be presented by the cheerleaders.

To get the student body to yell their team on is quite a responsibility. These girls ask no recognition, but they are credited for a job well done. The assistants won first place at the OU one-day clinic last Fall.

Preparing for a yell, the cheerleaders at U. S. Grant High School have a moment's rest before cheering the Generals on to victory.

Cheering the team to victory, the members of the U. S. Grant 1960-61 Junior High Pep Club have shown school spirit through the year. Many hours of hard work and patience have gone into making the Junior High Pep Club tops.

When problems have occurred, Mrs. Long, Mrs. Matherly, Mrs. Orren and Miss Sughru, the sponsors, have shown their concern by giving a helping hand. The Buglettes Pep Club has stimulated and promoted better sportsmanship among the students of U. S. Grant.

The red and gray uniforms worn by the members of the Pep Club are seen at all our games and assemblies. Giving up their personal time to support the teams and attend the games, the Pep Club should be rewarded by the student body. At crucial moments in many ball games, the girls have given the teams support, which has meant the difference between victory and defeat.

The Pep Club has given great concern to their team. The team itself has given us something to yell about

Our Cheerleaders can't seem to stand still with all the excitement that is being aroused in the Taff Stadium. The Cheerleaders take up much of their valuable time to lead us in all the yells that show our boys that we're right behind them in every game.

Majorettes Help Build School Spirit At Keep Winning Medals

Our U. S. GRANT MAJORETTES in bright gay costumes perform at all of our home football games. These girls bring pride to the BAND and of course to our school. These girls practice hour by hour to help bring the team on to victory. This year acting as head majorette is La Donna Thompson, who also represented our school as the BAND QUEEN. Sheila Erwin, La Donna Thompson, Sharon Casey, Sharon Chambers, Tamara Evans, Joan Pritchett, and Cathy Brown are the U. S. GRANT MAJORETTES this year. Marilyn Vidlock and Pam Stevens are the Majorettes' Assistants.

Games! Fancy Routines And Dances

The U. S. Grant Kadettes, organized in 1955, have been winning medals and trophies for six years.

Under the instruction of Sheila Erwin, the girls entered and won an Excellent rating at the 1960 Fair Day twirling contest.

Kadette members, adorned in red and grey uniforms, were seen throughout the year exhibiting their twirling abilities with flag and hoop batons as well as standard batons. They were seen strutting in various parades over the state and performing snappy dance routines for half-time activities during basketball season.

Jan Brookshire served as head majorette for the year. Assistants were Pam Geisan and Charlotte Wax.

The Senior High Band performed at the school Christmas assembly and at the P.T.A. program

The Junior High Orchestra is composed of eighth through twelfth grade students who have progressed through the Junior High Orchestra.

The purposes of the orchestra at Grant are to provide a means for the students to express themselves through good music. This is also an emotional outlet for the students and it trains them in the enjoyment of good music.

The orchestra is a performing group which plays for various school functions, P.T.A. meetings, programs and civic functions. The orchestra has several exceptionally talented members, among them Bobby Pearce, who was Concertmaster of the All-City Junior High Honor Orchestra in 1960, Bob Carroll, who was second chair celloist in the All-State Symphony, Carolyn Worley, and John Longfellow who were both valued members of the orchestra.

The orchestra performed their annual Spring Concert May 16, in combination with the Roosevelt Orchestra and the wind instrument players from the band.

The U. S. Grant Music Department sponsored many activities and programs during the 1960-61 school year. These were greatly enjoyed by the entire student body.

The activities of these groups were many. Most of the groups made personal appearances in programs and assemblies throughout the year. Each musical group attended contests and brought many honors to our school.

There are many opportunities for every boy and girl in the music field. Anyone in Junior and Senior High had the chance to improve their musical abilities.

Membership in the various musical groups was approved and directed by Mr. Ballew.

In the Junior High Choir the young people are taught to use and improve their lovely gift of singing. Most of these voices will someday sing in the Senior High Choir.

The Choir is very lucky to have a wonderful teacher like Mr. Ballew, who expects nothing but the best from the choir, and that is just what he gets.

They have made many personal appearances at different programs and assemblies during this past year. Each time they have performed they have proven that all the training and work and the hours of practice was worth it.

The Boys' "O" Club is in its seventh year at U. S. Grant. This club has become the most popular club among our boys. The purpose of the "O" Club is to promote a better interest in the field of sports and good sportmanship. To become a member of this club the boys were to letter in one or more sports offered at U. S. Grant.

The parents of the lettermen sponsored the annual pancake supper. A basketball game was held by the senior lettermen vs. the teachers of Grant. At the end of the '60-'61 school year an annual camping trip was scheduled for the boys.

The "O" Club initiation which is required to be a member, is an exciting event to the boys as well as the student body. During school hours they had to obey their fellow club members of what they asked of them.

Girls who were active in sports six years ago were awarded with membership in Girls' "O" Club.

By participation in volleyball, basketball, and softball, points are earned toward membership. When the required amount of points are earned girls are then eligible to pledge for membership.

Members are presented with gray jackets, with red letters to signify their membership and participation in sports. Bars are given yearly by the participation of sports that the girls letter in.

Football Builds Character Strength

Head Coach Norwood and Line Coach Reavis pose on the playing field

It's very hard for a person who has never participated in football to understand what makes up the sport. To many people it just seems as if a group of boys go out onto a cold, hard piece of ground, kick an inflated pigskin around for an hour and a half and come out with nothing to show for it but a bunch of bruises and maybe a letter jacket. It's even harder for one of these people to understand the situation when they ask one of the boys how he likes football. Without an exception the answer will be, "Fine, I wouldn't miss it for anything." This kind of an answer should make football's worst skeptic admit that there must be something more there than meets the eye. That "something" is what makes these boys wade through hours of tough practice sessions, aching joints, bruises and the many injuries received on the field of battle. That something is what makes men out of boys.

U. S. Grant's football season started on September 10, 1960 when the Generals met the Classen Comets and galloped to a 28 to 8 victory

The Generals' second game with John Marshall didn't go quite as well except for the valuable experience our boys gained

After our first defeat, the Generals went back to practice with their minds made up to stomp their next opponent, however, their string of bad luck was extended when they were beaten and held scoreless by Midwest City.

When the Generals played their homecoming game with Guthrie their determination finally paid off and they carried home a 70 to 8 victory over the Blue Jays

Our boys seemed to be able to overcome any obstacle after the Guthrie game and they were really set for their first out-of-state game at Hobbs, New Mexico, where they whipped them 43 to 14

Our good luck continued through the Northeast game and on October 26, we tied Central 20 to 20

On November 4, Southeast felt the crack of the Generals' whip when we beat the Class A Runners-up for state championship 26 to 16. This was Southeast's first defeat in a series of 8 wins

The Junior High Generals, coached by Mr. Coffelt and Mr. Evans, although not as highly publicized as the Senior High "A" and "B" teams, are just as important to our school now and in the future

The team is important to our school's future because the boys who have played football in their junior high years are much more valuable to the Senior High team because of their experience

The tallest man on the team is six-foot, seven-inch Gerry Grimes. Gerry is a senior; he has been playing Basketball at Grant for the last three seasons. Another outstanding team member is "Long, Tall" Johnnie Hopkins, who holds the team's high point average along with the honor of being captain.

These two boys are examples of a fine team. One of which Grant is proud.

The "B" Team Builds Experience

Grant's "B" squad gives South out a tough time in the fourth quarter.

The Generals' "B" team had a comparatively poor year, score-wise at least, but they received their fair share of the experience that is so necessary to all of Grant's future teams.

The "B" team headed by Coach Reavis and managed by Don Coates is comprised of seven boys who, at the beginning of the year knew very little about Basketball and even less about how it was played. It was Coach Reavis's job to whip these boys into playing shape and teach them the tricks of the game. He did well because, though the boys didn't win the majority of their games they were never completely trampled and when the buzzer sounded the score was usually running pretty close. It was very noticeable that as the season progressed not only the team's form improved, but also their scores. It is always a wonderful pride builder for our school when a group of people work to further its progress in any field and we feel that these boys have done very well in that respect

The following is a partial score list taken from some of the "B" squad's best games

These boys learn all of the tactics and inside tricks of the game that will enable them to play on the senior high "A" and "B" squads. It Takes Brains

The Wrestling team under the guiding hand of Coach Coffelt had one of the best seasons in the history of Grant. The team won 12 out of 15 matches. The first match was held on Dec 8, 1960. We won it over the Harding Eagles 26 to 12.

A lone Northeast Wrestler is very surprised as R. C. Brown signals the beginning of the end.

December 9, the Generals defeated Putnam City 21 to 15. Three Grant boys pinned their opponents in this second match held in the U. S. Grant gym. On December 13, the Generals tangled up with Classen in a match that Grant won with a score of 32 to 8. The Generals met their first defeat at the hands of the Classen Comets when Classen won 29 to 9 on December 20.

Again Grant more than doubled their opponents score as the wrestlers got a 31 to 14 defeat over Northwest on the third of January.

On January 6th Grant met the second defeat of the season as the Generals lost 15 to 26 to Norman.

Douglass didn't even make a score on January 10, as Grant walked away with a smashing 40 to nothing victory. The wrestlers of this match were Trent, Stanley, Harlen, Baker, Acheson, Smith, McGehee, Little, McCoy and Brown.

In the Wrestling Regionals Grant competed with eleven schools in the U. S. Grant gym. Six of our men qualified. They were: R. C. Brown, first; Tommy Simon, second; Bill McCoy, second; David Harmon, third; Ronald Teddar, third; and Bruce Baker, third.

These boys went to the state meet held on February 24.

Our wrestlers did very well in all of the games and all the students and faculty of U. S. Grant are very proud of them.

The U. S. Grant Track team started training during the early spring. Grant holds great hopes for its 1961 track squad because it shows promise of being the best track team in Grant's history. The reason for these great expectations Grant students have is that the team is made up of the majority of Grant's most seasoned athletes. We wish you luck

Today's Amateurs become tomorrow's pros

Few if any of Grant's 1961 tennis team will become professional tennis players because most of them are just playing for enjoyment.

The training, both physical and mental that this fast-paced game provides however, will enable our players to do well in many other fields besides tennis. The schedule printed below is the one in which Grant's 1961 tennis team participated.

Girls Take An Active

The 1961 girls' volleyball team was chosen and positions assigned after many try-outs. Tryouts were limited to girls in grades 9-12 who were enrolled in teams. The girls who exhibited the best ability were selected to participate in the games played against other high-school teams.

Many exhausting hours of practice were required after school each day to get ready for the scheduled games. While they worked diligently, the teams also had fun as a group and as friends.

Under the guidance of Miss Louise Sughru, the team played extremely hard this year and they acquired a considerable amount of team spirit. The girls won many games, defeating teams from other city schools and the games lost were accepted with good sportsmanship.

The final results of the volleyball season were both wins and losses. This is much better than last year's record.

Miss Seighra is the leader of this fine group of well playing and well developed girls who have won a superb job this year.

Carolyn Little is showing the girls how to use the set ball hat as a team must know how to use the bat if they win every game.

'Practice makes perfect' so they say, and this is the thing that helped the U. S. Grant girls' basketball team hold a strong record of wins throughout the season.

Evening after evening the girls worked on their most difficult plays and set ups. They also practiced diligently week after week until their season started.

Their opening game was played against Southeast January 30 and won with an encouraging score of 44-36.

With their first game a win, they played hard and strong the rest of their season.

The team held high spirits all the way to the end of the season. They also held a standing of fine sportsmanship with the other girls of their various schools. Whether they won or lost they still kept this record.

Sportsmanship is one of the qualities the students at U. S. Grant hope to keep throughout their school years at Grant.

Girls Have Varied Sports Program

U. S. Grant is very proud and lucky to have the winner of the intramural badminton tournament attending here. Carol Morrison, a junior, was the winner. This tournament was held at North West High School.

Singles and doubles were played in the ping pong tournament. the ping pong tournament was held at Central High School.

The regular gym classes do not play games against the other schools. The regular classes divide themselves up equally and play against each other.

The seventh and eighth grade girls that have gym play volleyball, kickball, and ten pins. They also have relays.

The high school girls with gym play basketball, kickball, German bat ball, volleyball, and have relays.

The girls' instructor is Miss Sughru. After you have Miss Sughru for a year or two I think that you will find her a very nice person to know. Miss Sughru, the girls' instructor, has done a very outstanding job instructing them in their games, as well as in good sportsmanship. Miss Sughru instructs the girls not only in basketball but in teams too. Taking time out from her classes, Miss Sughru is the sponsor of the junior high pep club. Sponsoring the pep club is a big job which requires a lot of work. The pep club sponsor must always know when and where a game is going to be held. Miss Sughru deserves a high reward for being a good teacher and sponsor.

Humility and service have made their imprint upon U. S. Grant's foundation with "Class of '61" engraved

The vitality of acquiring a good education was put forth in chemistry, math analysis, Latin, Great Books, Psychology, Government, and college preparatory English classes. These were tools with which to shape the future that lay before them

The same seniors, who labored so diligently over the semester exams, memorized lines for the Senior Class Play, sold Christmas trees, pushed paper drives, held car washes and yelled loudest and longest at the pep assemblies.

With the high quality of devotion to others, which Grant students all possess, aiding them the seniors banded together to sponsor a money raising campaign. Not for themselves but for a member of their own class, Emory Aspaugh Emory Aspaugh Day was held on an autumn Saturday with a car wash and half time ceremonies at the football game dedicated to him

Through this their last year of high school they led the student council, pep club, FBLA and other organizations as leaders, setting a path for the under-classmen to follow. They made a name for our school by winning scholarships, and city and state awards in athletics and scholastic achievement

From blue jeans and old newspapers to satin and tuxedo at the prom the class of '61 experienced a year highlighted with a conglomeration of dances, athletic activities, and enthusiastic and earnest planning committee meetings. To some the beauty of the prom could only be matched by the symbolic

From left to right Jimmy Staffa, Janie Reynolds, Sue Wright and Rick Hamilton studiously review last night's English homework in the courtyard during their lunch period, hoping desperately to complete their assignment before class begins and their work is counted overdue.

The 'short and tall' of it all' is demonstrated by David Swafford and Gerry Grimes. They were the tallest and shortest on the U. S. Grant 1960-61 Basketball Team.

baccalaureate and finally commencement

With these two final steps behind them they emerged from their highschool careers with a desire and ability to make their place in the world. Some will further their education in our nation's universities while others will go straight forth into the mighty world of business.

They have tasted the glory of victory and learned from defeat, only to compete again and again ranking higher in the field of scholarship, citizenship, the arts and athletics.

The year of 60-61 was their year and they molded it into a year to look back upon with pride and held in esteem.

As an interesting and special treat for Mrs. Sparks Great Books discussion class, Mrs. Franzel Adeline, Head of Special Services for the State Library, was guest at a discussion on The Prince by Machiavelli.

Work work work. It seems we never have time for anything else with all the home work that is given to us" might be the thoughts being thought by these three juniors. they are left to right, Barbara Umbarger, Pam Johnston and Sheila Goodman.

As if keeping up with classes weren't enough the Junior class found time to deviate from Shorthand, Spanish, Algebra, American History and other courses to grasp the tasks awaiting them in their Junior Year.

Springing onto the scene as cheerleaders, majorettes, and participants in athletics they opened their year with the hilarious Jr. play "Let Me Grow Up."

With the prom staring them in the face the Junior class experienced a year filled with excitement, hard work, honor, and best of all, achievement.

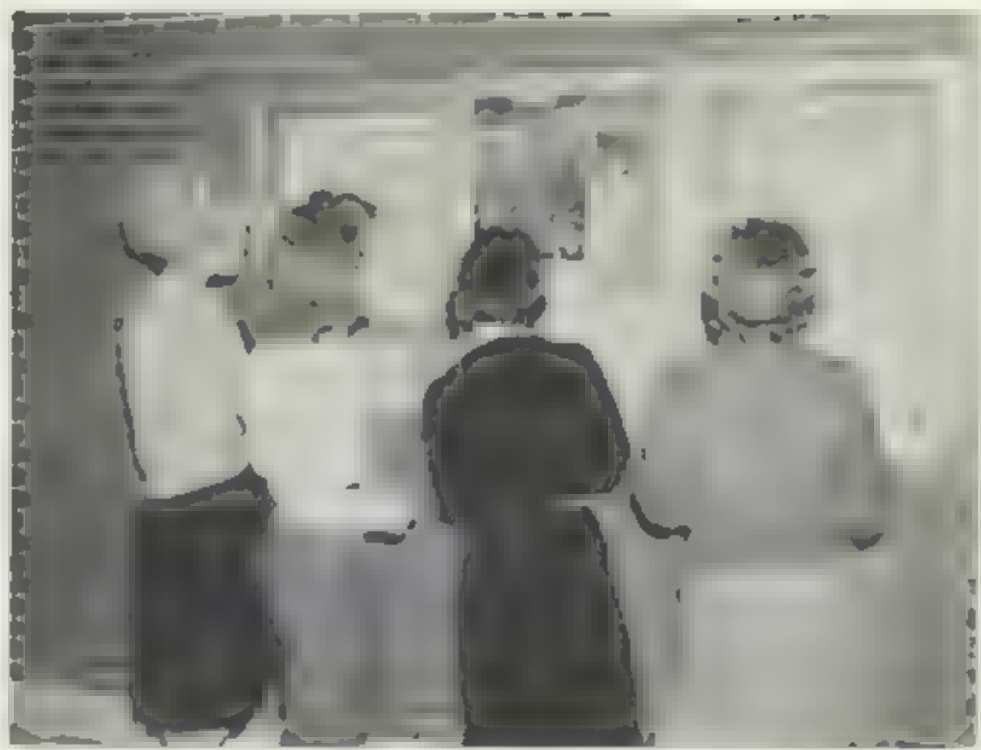

Coming forth from their sophomore year they met their challenge with ever pressing vigilance. For the first time in their history as a class they had big responsibilities on their shoulders. Financing the annual Jr.-Sr. prom meant work. They held paper drives, dances, candy sales and an old fashioned box supper.

As a climax to their hard work, the senior class was presented with a beautiful and splendid prom. The atmosphere for the prom

Rings and Prom are two

Looking quite curiously at the Grant High bulletin board are four of Grant's Juniors. On this board appear such things as the school calendar, the list of names by which the student council made up the student directory and many other informative pieces big events in Juniors year was brilliantly set off by the environment of the Oklahoma City Golf and Country Club

Being a junior also brought to them the pleasure of class rings. Receiving them in April the juniors were the second class to wear U. S. Grant's still new traditional ring

With a busy and profitable Junior Year behind them, these Juniors will go forth to prepare for their next big step. A climax to their highschool career — their senior year

As seniors they will have many hours of hard work ahead of them if they expect to graduate but it is probable that most of them will not only study hard but will take leading parts in the school activities. There is student council which will take up a lot of time for whoever endeavors to enter that organization, there is the senior play, and a countless number of other things to occupy their time, when they reach this last year of their high school life

Entering the spacious Grant library, of which the student body is very proud, is Sandie Williams. Many students find the library useful year round

Before beginning discussions on "Ben Hur" Mrs. Myatt has her 11th and 12th grade English class go over the work they have prepared from their study of the book

Students and sponsors are briefed by television director before the Students in Action Television Program

These students were elected by the Sophomore Class to hold offices and represent their grade. They are Mr. Collett, Sponsor; B. Mays, Vice-President; Jane Johnson, Secretary; Ernie Henson, President; Lynda Kerr, Treasurer; Susan Schroeder, Reporter; and Mr. Butler, Sponsor. Each student and sponsor served the Sophomore class year round. They planned such things as paper drives and cookie and candy sales to raise money.

Sophomores have busy year

The 1960-61 Sophomore Class had a very busy and active year. Starting the year off right, they elected sponsors and officers to lead them through the year.

Eager to get into the new activities that senior high offered, the girls pledged for the Pep Club, and the boys took an active part in senior high sports. The students joined Senior H. Y., Junior Red Cross, Future Teachers of America, and Future Business Leaders of America and had representatives in the Senior High Student and Safety Councils.

The class carried on a project over the Public Address System to encourage the Grant student body to say the Flag Salute correctly. The class also sponsored a dance the first Friday in April.

Their agenda also included early plans for the Junior-Senior Prom which they will sponsor in their Junior year.

The class was very active in the Journalism Department as well as Music, Science, and the many departments they could enter as Sophomores. While taking an active part in Grant's activities, the students also acquired experience for the future years at Grant.

For they will soon be the Junior class which plans the Prom and many other activities, and will be grateful for the experience acquired in their sophomore year.

Being a freshman wasn't easy for many of the students, but many found time to help out in many of the extra curricular activities which not only helped the students occupy their extra time but also made it possible for many of Grant's clubs to perform many outside activities for which many were recognized statewide. Pictured above are several students who took an active part in many extra curricular activities; they are from bottom to top, GENE KNIGHT, MIKE McCONLEY, MARJORIE FAGAN and BRENDA MATHES, and pictured along with them is Mr. Niblet who took part in many activities.

Freshmen find year a challenge

As the year of 1960-61 draws to an end, the FRESHMEN class of U. S. Grant adds the finishing touch to their preparations for the coming year.

For the freshmen it means another year of trials and tribulations to be met with the best of their capabilities. For if the year ahead is to be anything like the one that is about to pass they will need all the patience and courage they have to meet the problems that will arise. Whether it's the crowning of a queen or just one of the every day meetings of one of the numerous clubs, there is always something for some one who is interested enough to give a little bit of his time for the betterment of Grant High as a whole.

While preparing to meet the year ahead the students found time to participate in such things as student council, Red Cross, Journalism, choir, and F.T.A. Each of these activities will help these students acquire the experience necessary to carry on the tradition of Grant High in the future years to come, for it will be these freshmen of today who will be the Seniors of tomorrow.

Pictured below are three of Grant's ninth grade students as they discover the usefulness of our library.

Working on the switch board is an excellent opportunity for business training

Eighth Graders feel like old pros

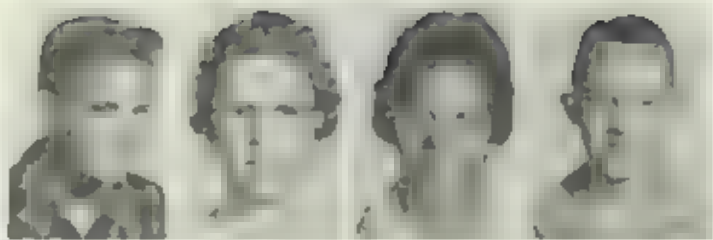

Pictured below is a group of eighth grade students curiously examining the P.A. System by which the daily announcements are brought to the students, by Mr. Wallace.

The 1959-60 seventh graders return this year, one year older and no longer the youngest class. They look forward to their busy year of school activities, which include Jr. High Red Cross, Buglettes Pep Club, Jr. Hi-Y, and many others which help in forming the eighth grade curriculum.

These students support their school willingly and joyfully. They wholeheartedly take part in Pep Assemblies, and drives, such as Big One, and Toys For Tots.

This being the second year of school at Grant for them the students now find that they are old pros at getting to classes and back from lunch on time.

Finishing touches are applied to student actors who participated in the benefit plays produced by Mr. Whiteman for the Conservation club

These students are learning the basic functions of higher math in Mrs. Pearson's class

Pictured from the stairs down are Bobbie Williams, Karen Johnston, Ted Ryals, Benny Overton, and Mrs. Matheny, all of whom and many others have been busy in the past year with the many activities of the seventh grade, for now is the time that they are starting to acquire the experience, that they will need, in the future, when they will lead the school in the way that it should be lead as it has been in the past.

Seventh Graders learn to belong

The year of 1960-61 marked an exciting time for the seventh graders of U. S. Grant. At first the seventh graders were bewildered by their surroundings, but as time went by they gradually gained confidence.

They overcame their fears and began taking part in the activities and organizations of their school. By doing this they were slowly working their way to becoming future class presidents, cheerleaders, editors, and queens.

As they approach the eighth grade they feel more and more a part of U. S. Grant.

Little do they know about the future now, for it is a long time until they receive their diploma. There are many dances, class rings, and many yearbooks to record their history, and last, but not least, many hours of long studying which will make the future easier for them. But, all of these will be their needed training for the future.

Pictured below are two seventh graders as they prepare to take advantage of Grant's well equipped cafeteria.

Memories of the past are often seen in confusion of exaggeration. But when these experiences are viewed free of this exaggeration, they are seen in the pleasure and enjoyment of youth experiences. We who have seen the 1960-61 GENERAL will sincerely help in the viewing of youth experiences. Most of the planning and work were an excuse for the pride and the General. To the best I wish to express my sincere thanks for their many hours of work and learning that they have together is this.
My deepest gratitude and thanks go to the faculty and students of U S Grant for their assistance. I thank my interruptions and impositions which the GENERAL would not have been possible.
To Mr. Harris and Mr. McCain goes my appreciation for their many hours of outside work in the taking and developing of pictures, with all vision and instruction as our sponsor and friend.
Finally, last but not least, our thanks go to Mr. John Clark, Semco, City Press representative for his help in supervising the GENERAL'S production.
I sincerely wish and hope that you will acquire the many intended hours of enjoyment from your 1960-61 GENERAL.

Janet;

I never dreamed last year when I signed in yearbook we would ever go together.
one real cute and very sweet and most interesting.
loveable! I asked about a few girls out in hope that perhaps I could find one day. If you come next year I would be will love many more

I have been thinking of you much lately and wondering how you are getting on. I hope you are well and happy. I am still the same old me.

[The page contains extremely faint, illegible handwriting, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the document.]

Janet

... girl. You're a lot of fun to be around & I've enjoyed knowing you. You're in English. I say you are a really cute girl always there for me. I hope you'll be a teacher. Love
6/2/61

Janet

Well this ^{school} year is almost over & it has been more fun than any before. I guess you know that - consider you my best friend even though I may not show it all the time.
You & Penny have doubled dated with me & different boys all year. I'll have dated 2 haven't, but maybe now things will change.
We've had so much fun just "gossiping" & we often do instead of studying. I'm not going to write a whole page - cause you should know how much I think of you. Good luck in your future years at St. Vincent. Stay sweet & cute as you are now & good!

Lots of love
Patty Allen

Janet,
You're a real sweet girl and you've got a gem for a boy friend. Don't let him get away from you.

Janet -
It has really been a pleasure knowing you this year, and being in English with you. Best of luck in all you do.

"Janet."
You're the nicest
girl in the soph
class. Well I guess
I won't go into details about how great you are because you probably know already. I hope we can remain friends for a long time. Lots of luck
in all you do.

Janet,
you are one of the sweetest
girls I know.
Good luck in the future.
Love ya
Sherry W. Gant.

Janet,
I think your family is just precious. All of you have high goals, good ~~and~~ looks and a friendly smile. I hope next year we may become very good friends.
I hope someday to ~~have~~ have some of the fine qualities that you ~~possess~~ possess.
